

AKRON.

Grand Lodge of I. O. G. T.

On the 4th inst. the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, of Ohio, met at Akron, and held its Eighteenth Annual Session. All the Grand officers, and upwards of 200 delegates and visitors were present.

The meeting was harmonious, and a general good feeling was prevalent throughout. We have not space for a full report of the doings of the Lodge, and will only give the resolution on Political Action, which were adopted with but two or three dissenting voices. They are as follows:

Whereas, The R. W. Grand Lodge did in Platform in 1858 adopt principles of total abstinence and prohibition of the liquor traffic, and whereas, the same has since been held fully to approve and endorse the principles of the National Prohibition Party, organized in Chicago, Sept. 25, 1859; and

Whereas, The party has in Ohio submitted State and local nominations for the support of temperance voters; therefore,

Be it resolved by the Grand Lodge of the Prohibition Party, in placing before the voters of Ohio a ticket of uncompromising temperance men, on a platform of entire Prohibition of the liquor traffic, and rejoice in the rapid progress it is making, we heartily endorse the principles of the National Prohibition Party, of the people in this State.

2. That while we are not a political organization, we regard it the mission of subordinate Lodges not only to reclaim the fallen and save the young, but to instruct the public in the true and correct principles of temperance reform, and recommend to the careful consideration of all Good Templars in the State the claims of the Prohibition party.

3. That we reaffirm our confidence in the wisdom which led to the formation of the Prohibition party, and believe that its honest hope of moral, political and social success,

The Good Templars were placed under obligations to the people of Akron for the kindness and respect shown them.

By invitation of the Board of Directors of the Summit County Agricultural Society, they in session there, and also by invitation of the Directors of Buchtel College, now building, those who could, on Friday morning, the 6th, paid a visit to both these institutions.

Buchtel College, summary of our citizens know, is to be a Universalist College, and has for its patron John R. Buchtel, of Akron. Mr. Buchtel settled in Akron, many years ago, as a day-laborer, and when married, twenty-eight years ago, was worth but about one thousand dollars. By industry and frugality he has become immensely wealthy, and is the head and front of the Buckeye Reaper & Mower establishments of Canton and Akron. He has given forty thousand dollars toward building Buchtel College, which is to cost about one hundred and thirty thousand dollars, and he says he will give forty thousand dollars more toward its completion if it is necessary for him to do so. The college is on an elevation overlooking many miles of country, all well-timbered, and some comprising up river, so that some additions to be made. When completed, the building will be a grand structure, and will be the pride of Akron.

On the Fair Grounds, we met Dr. G. N. Hartshorn, of Mt. Union college, who was exhibiting some rare specimens of the animal kingdom, which he had had studied for his museum.

The next meeting of the Grand Lodge will be held in Portsmouth.
